

Minority Outreach & Technical Assistance (MOTA)

Faith Center for Community Wellness and Advancement – Baltimore City

Natasha Otto
Program Director
100 S. Rock Glen Road
Baltimore, Maryland 21229
(443) 722-7293 Email: natashaotto@gmail.com

Faith Center for Community Wellness and Advancement (Faith Center) is committed to addressing socio-economic and health disparities in Southwest Baltimore City for the last 13 years. During the last decade, the Faith Center has provided holistic services to the community through education, preventive intervention, referral, health options, family development and employment services.

During the upcoming year, Faith Center aims to educate minority communities about the health risk factors associated with cardiovascular disease, infant mortality, cancer prevention, and the dangers of tobacco use. Faith Center will engage minority groups through public activities and will work with others racial and ethnic groups to improve their knowledge and decision making to improve health outcomes.

For more information about The Faith Center and the MOTA program in Baltimore City, contact Natasha Otto, Program Director at (443) 722-7293.